➤ Liberator Medical -

A healthcare company founded by a healthcare professional.

Mark Libratoro, Founder, President & CEO began his career as a respiratory therapist working at local hospitals. His years of caring for patients & saving their lives dramatically influenced his approach to building a medical supply business. Simply put, he has always emphasized that Liberator Medical is above all a healthcare company not merely a shipper of medical supplies. "We are here primarily to care for our customers in every way we can, reliably & compassionately. We supply care to our customers with innovative medical supplies and superior customer service and support. We play a key healthcare role for our customers engaged in self-care at home."

-Mark Libratoro, President & CEO
